

Living with the English Language:

An Autoethnography of a Language Learner

The speaker, who has lived in the United States for 30 years, will discuss his life with the English language—from his humble beginning to years of developing, using and teaching English in various academic and professional contexts. Many people who are learning English in so-called EFL contexts like Japan seem to believe that the best or only way to learn English well is to live in an English-dominant context, but the speaker will try to debunk the myth of natural and easy language acquisition for adult language learners by sharing his own experience along with his take on various theories of learning and teaching languages and literacies.

講師 Dr. Paul Kei Matsuda Arizona State University

場所 宮城教育大学 7号館2階 720教室

日時 1月8日（火）14：40—16：10

申し込み方法

お名前・ご所属をご明記の上、メール、電話・FAXいずれかの方法で、お申込みください。
〆切は1月4日（金）になります。

教員キャリア研究機構・小学校英語教育研究領域 事務補佐員 小野世令央

✉ pseer.mue@gmail.com TEL&FAX : 022-214-3493

参加費無料です！

Paul Kei Matsuda is Professor of English and Director of Second Language Writing at Arizona State University, where he works closely with doctoral students specializing in second language writing from various disciplinary perspectives. He is also Concurrent Professor of Applied Linguistics at Nanjing University and Zhengzhou University. He is Founding Chair of the Symposium on Second Language Writing and Series Editor of the Parlor Press Series on Second Language Writing. Former President of the American Association for Applied Linguistics, he has also served as the founding chair of the CCCC Committee on Second Language Writing and the chair of the Nonnative English Speakers in TESOL (NNEST) Caucus. He has published widely on various topics on language, writing and professional development in applied linguistics, rhetoric and composition and TESOL, and has received a number of prestigious awards for his publications.

